

Port of Seattle Human Trafficking Strategy

Name of Resource	Port of Seattle Human Trafficking Strategy
Type	Motion / Strategy
Country / jurisdiction	Seattle, United States of America
Enacting authority	Port of Seattle
Entry into force / date of approval	9 January 2018
Description	The Port of Seattle is committed to stopping human trafficking in King County, where hundreds of victims are identified each year. The county has a tangible role in stopping trafficking because of the status as both a large employer and as the manager of significant trade and travel facilities. Over the years, the organization has been a leader in directly addressing trafficking activities, raising awareness of the issue to local residents and collaborating with key partners to increase reach and impact.
